Congress of the United States

House of Representatives.

March 23.

Proceedings of Congress, relative to the Embargo.

A message from the President of the United States.

UNITED STATES, 28th March 1794. Gentlemen of the Senate, and of the House of Representatives.

In the execution of the resolution of Congress, bearing date the 26th of March 1794, and imposing an embargo I have requested the governors of several States to call forth the force of their Militia, if it should be necessary for the detention of vessels. This power is conceived to be incidental to an embargo.

It also deserves the attention of Congress how far the clearances from one district to another, under the law as it now stands, may give rise to evasion of the embargo. As for security, the collectors have been instructed to refuse to receive the surrender of existing licenses for the purpose of taking out registers, and to require bonds from registered vessels bound from one district to another, for the delivery of the cargo within the United States.

It is not understood, that the resolution applies to coasting vessels, although their occupations lie generally in parts beyond the United States. But without further restrictions, there is an opportunity of their privileges being used as means of eluding the embargo.

All armed vessels possessing public commissions from any foreign power (letters of marque excepted) are considered as not liable to the embargo.

These circumstances are transmitted to Congress for their consideration.

Go, WASHINGTON.

The said message and papers were read, and committed to Mr. Dexter, Mr. Murray, and Mr. Goodhue.

Mr. Dexter from the committee to whom was referred the above message of the President of the United States, the next day reported the following resolution, which was agreed to by the house.

Resolved by the Senate and house of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That during the continuance of the present embargo, no registered vessel, having on board goods, wares and merchandise, shall be allowed to depart from one port of the United States, to any other port within the same, unless the master, owner, consignee or factor, shall first give bond, with one or more securities, to the collector of the district from which the vessel is about to depart, in a sum of double the value of the value of the vessel and cargo, that the said goods, wares or merchandise, shall be relanded in some part of the United States, which bond, and also a certificate from the collector of the district where the vessel may be relanded, shall, by the collectors respectively, be transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury. That the several collectors be prohibited from granting a clearance to any foreign ship or vessel, in any case whatever, during the continuance of the present embargo; and all armed vessels, possessing public commissions from any foreign power (letters of marque excepted,) are to be considered as not liable to the embargo.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Otis their Secretary, informed the house, that the Senate have agreed to a resolution, to carry into complete effect, the resolution directing an embargo, to which they desire the concurrence of this House.

Another message from the Senate, by Mr. Otis was received, which announced that the Senate have agreed, to the resolution of the house, to carry into more complete effect the resolutions directing an embargo.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS I have received information that certain persons in violation of the laws have presumed, under colour of a foreign authority, to enlist citizens of the United States and others within the state of Kentucky, and have there assembled an armed force for the purpose of invading and plundering the territories of a nation at peace with the said United States; And whereas such unwarrantable measures, being contrary to the laws of nations and to the duties incumbent on every citizen of the United States, tend to disturb the tranquillity of the same, and to involve them in the calamities of war: And whereas it is the duty of the Executive to take care that such criminal proceedings should be suppressed, the offenders brought to justice, and all good citizens cautioned against measures likely to prove so pernicious to their country and themselves, should they be seduced into similar infractions of laws:

I have therefore thought proper to issue this Proclamation hereby solemnly warning every person not authorized by the laws, against enlisting any citizen or citizens of the United States, or levying troops or assembling any persons within the United States for the purposes aforesaid, or proceeding in any manner to the execution thereof, as they will answer the same at their peril; and I do also admonish and require all citizens to refrain from enlisting, enrolling or assembling themselves for such unlawful purposes, and from being in any way concerned, aiding or abetting therein, as they render their own welfare, in as much as all lawful means will be strictly put in execution for securing obedience to the laws, and for punishing such dangerous and daring violations thereof.

And I do moreover charge and require all courts, magistrates and other officers, whom it may concern, according to their respective duties, to exert the powers in them severally vested to prevent and suppress all such unlawful assemblages, and proceedings, &c to bring to condign punishment those who may have been guilty thereof, as they regard the due authority of Government, and the peace and welfare of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents and signed the same with my hand. Done at the city of Philadelphia the twenty-fourth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and ninety four, and of the independence of the United States of America, the eighteenth.

Go: WASHINGTON.

A letter from Montserrat of the fourth of February, says, the British packet arrived here on the second instant, and brings news of a rebellion in Scotland, and that never such a disaster was known in all Europe. The brave French army drive all before them.

THE Public are cautioned to beware of counterfeited Five Dollar Bills of the Bank of the United States, and Twenty Dollar Bills of the Bank of North America, several of which have appeared in circulation within a few days past; they are a good general imitation of the genuine bills but may be distinguished by the following MARKS,

Five Dollar Bills of the Bank of the United States.

All that have appeared have the letter F. for their Alphabetical Mark.

The texture of the Paper is thicker and whiter, and it takes the ink more freely than the genuine paper.

The O. in the Word Company is smaller than the M. and other letters of that word, so that a line extended from the top of the O. to touch the top of the M. would extend considerably above the range of the whole word.

In the word United the letters are narrower and closer together than the rest of the Bill.

The i and j in the word promise are not parallel, the j inclining much more forward than the i.

The engraving is badly executed, the strokes of all the Letters are stronger, and the device in the margin particularly is much coarser and appears darker than in the true bills. Some of the counterfeits bear date in 1791— whereas the Bank was not in operation till December, and the Five Dollar Bills were issued that year.

Twenty Dollar Bills of the Bank of North America.

All that have appeared, have the letter B for their alphabetical Mark.

They are printed on a paper nearly similar to that of the counterfeit Five Dollar Notes above described; the engraving is better executed, and they approach nearer to the appearance of the genuine Bills.

The fine ruled lines through the word Twenty, in the body of the Bill, are in number thirteen in the genuine Bills, and but twelve in the counterfeits.

The word Company is much like the same word in the Five Dollar Bills as described above, the being less than the m, and others following.

There is no stroke the r in the word North, whereas in the genuine Bills the stroke is well defined.

The letters on in the word Twenty, to the left hand at the bottom, do not come down to the line, but are so cut as to give an irregular appearance to the word, the T and the y going below them.

The signature J. Nixon, has the appearance of being written with lamp-black and oil, and differs from the other inks used in printing the Bills and the Cashier's signature.

It is supposed these forgeries were committed in some of the Southern States, as all the counterfeits that have appeared, have come from thence, and two persons have been apprehended in Virginia, on suspicion of being the authors of them.

The reward of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, will be paid to any person or persons who shall discover and prosecute to conviction the several offenders of the following descriptions or any of them, viz.

The person or persons who manufactured the paper on which the Bills are printed.

The person or persons who engraved the plates.

The printer or printers of the Bills.

Every person who has acted as a principal in any other way, in the counterfeiting and uttering the said bills.

SACRED TO THE MUSES.

The following SONG was composed and sung by a Gentleman in Norfolk, at a Civic Festival given by the Citizens of Norfolk to the Consul of the French Republic and the Commander and Officers of the Frigates Normande and Ambuscade.

To Despoils bend the knee,
Fair Gallia's every danger braves,
Determined to be free.

To take them by the hand;
For Freedom's sons in every clime,
Will by each other stand.

II.
With smiles by some you'll be received,
Whilst in prosperity;
But gallant friends I be not deceived,
By foul Hypocrisy:
Trust none but those who've fearlessly
Held forth a friendly hand;
Such men (ier Fortune smile or frown)
Will by each other stand.

III.
What tho' oppression's imps may join,
Your Freedom to annoy;
What! tho' tyrannic Fiends combine,
That Freedom to destroy;
Yet shall Celestial Liberty
Conduct you by the hand;
And Democratic Citizens,
Will by each other stand.

IV.
Against those execrable foes,
Destruction shall be hurl'd;
And may your salutary blows
Regenerate the world:
Then shall our two Republics firm,
United hand in hand,
Progress towards eternity,
And by each other stand.

V.
Your efforts crown'd with victory,
Despoils are trembling seen!
And may each tyrant speedily
Obtain a Guillotine;
Then shall fair Peace, and Liberty
Clothe, joining hand in hand,
Succeed to War, and Discord fell,
And by each other stand.
